

North American Growers Honored for Green Production

The Million Bottle Club has announced its 2015 recipients, recognizing growers who have recycled more than 1 million plastic water bottles into plant containers.

Pin it
in Share
Tweet
Like
0

The Million Bottle Club has announced its 2015 recipients, recognizing growers who have recycled more than 1 million plastic water bottles into plant containers. This is the third year the Million Bottle Club, organized by McConkey's rEarth plastic water bottle recycling program, has given awards to growers.

"Million Bottle Club honorees can take pride in keeping bottles out of streets, landfills and oceans," said Dave Edenfield, business development manager for McConkey. "And they're doing this simply by following their own green production practices, including growing in 100 percent recycled, curbside-recyclable rEarth containers."

This year's honorees recycled more than 66 million bottles in 2015 alone:

- | | |
|------------------------------|--------------|
| • Smith Gardens | 4.0 million |
| • Blooms | 4.0 million |
| • Certified Plant Growers | 3.8 million |
| • Pacific Growers | 2.0 million |
| • Colorama Wholesale Nursery | 1.8 million |
| • De Goede Brothers | 1.8 million |
| • Col. Colin Co. Inc. | 1.5 million |
| • Armstrong Growers | 29.5 million |
| • Color Point Nursery | 6.5 million |
| • Kawahara Nursery | 5.9 million |
| • Iwasaki Bros., Inc. | 5.8 million |

Exclusive to MasterTag on demand

Walter's Perennial Display Cards

Hundreds of varieties available

Available in 2 sizes! 11x7 & 5x7

Exclusive to MasterTag on demand

Walter's Perennial Display Cards

Hundreds of varieties available

Videos

MORE VIDEOS